We have received many requests for additional training on Command Fusion. Ivan will be offering the last iLED University training session this year on Control Systems. This one day session will cover Home Automation using a Command Fusion GUI and iPad/iPhone

Participants are expected to have already mastered the basics of Command Fusion.

Please ensure that you have the latest Command Fusion GUI Designer software installed (V2.3.5 or newer) and bring along your iPad or iPod touch that is already registered

And for those serious about control

Ivan will introduce the latest Bitwise programmable Automation controller. Drag and drop programming with a built in GUI designer. iControl the world
